Futurex Group and ETSIPL launched three co-located exhibitions in Nairobi focused on construction, woodworking, renewable energy and sustainable infrastructure. The exhibitions were Kenya Buildcon 2026, Kenya Wood 2026, and Kenya SEPL Expo 2026. They took place from 11th to 13th June at Sarit Expo Centre and were launched on 3rd June at Golden Tulip Hotel.

The three events brought together manufacturers, suppliers, contractors, engineers, architects, developers, investors and policymakers from Kenya and other countries. More than 150 companies from over six countries took part. The exhibitions provided a platform for product display, business networking and exchange of industry information across the built environment and energy value chains. The purpose of the exhibitions was to connect stakeholders in construction, wood processing, electrical systems and renewable energy, while supporting trade discussions and knowledge sharing on industry trends, materials and technologies. Key focus areas included building materials, construction equipment, furniture production, solar energy systems, battery solutions and smart infrastructure.

Kenya's tea export up by 6% but key markets suffer from conflict

Pakistan remained Kenya's largest tea buyer, importing a record 56.5m kilos

Kenya's tea export grew by 6% in the first five months of the year, according to data from the Kenya Tea Development Board (KTDB). The board said that the growth was driven by a 10% increase in exports to Pakistan, which remained the largest market for Kenyan tea.

However, the board also warned that key markets like the UK and Germany were suffering from economic challenges, which could impact demand for Kenyan tea. The board is working to diversify its export markets to mitigate these risks.

Kenya targets regional construction, green energy boom as global expo heads to Nairobi

The Kenya Trade Fair Authority (KTF) is gearing up for the 3rd Kenya Buildcon/Wood/SEPL International Expo, which will take place from June 11-13 at the Sarit Expo Centre. The expo is expected to attract over 150 exhibitors from six countries, showcasing the latest in construction, wood processing, and renewable energy technologies.

KTF officials are optimistic about the expo's potential to boost trade and investment in Kenya's key sectors. They are also highlighting the expo as a platform for showcasing Kenya's growing construction and green energy industries to the international community.
